SA Wargo advised BAKER III the nature of the search warrant and how it related to child exploitation offenses, namely the distribution of child pornography.

BAKER III immediately responded, "It's me, you don't need to talk to anyone else here."

BAKER III stated he utilizes a program named "Torex" on his Xbox One to download images and videos of child exploitation material.

BAKER III was asked if he knew what the term "child pornography" meant. BAKER III responded, "Yes," and described child pornography as "sexual intercourse with someone under 18." SA Wargo advised BAKER III of the federal definition of child pornography. BAKER III nodded his head in agreement what he was just told.

BAKER III claimed he had been downloading child pornography for approximately one (1) month. SA Wargo confronted BAKER III with download information held by HSI which showed BAKER III had been actively allowing others to download child pornography from him since at least April 4, 2019. BAKER III responded, "sometimes my sense of time is not right because of my PTSD." BAKER III did not deny he was the actor responsible for the activity during this period, rather, he just indicated he didn't remember.

BAKER III stated he only used the Xbox One to view child pornography. BAKER III stated there may be some child pornography on the removable green hard drive connected to it.

BAKER III stated he used his current cellular telephone, an LG, to view stuff that was "legal." BAKER III was asked what "legal" meant. BAKER III then showed SA Wargo several links saved on his phone which directed the user to a website nn-formus.net/topics/preteen. The images which were immediately present on depicted what appeared 10-12 year old females in various stages of nudity in "nudist" settings.

BAKER III was asked for the search terms he would utilize to search for child exploitation material. BAKER III provided "Siberian Mouse," "JulyJailBait," and "PTCH." BAKER III explained he did not know what PTHC meant, however, "it has something to do with it."

BAKER III stated he would usually look at child exploitation material and then transition to adult pornography.

BAKER III stated he does not receive sexual gratification by looking at child exploitation material.

BAKER III stated after he views the files of child exploitation material he deletes them or they go to a file somewhere where he can't find them. BAKER III stated he had to view the material within the Torex application.

BAKER III stated he became interested in child exploitation material because he, "ran into it and was curious and for the shock value." BAKER further explained he was at a bar drinking and someone, who he refused to name, started to talk about viewing child exploitation material. BAKER III stated he didn't think the person could be telling the truth about how accessible it was so he went home and "typed in a search and off I went."

BAKER III stated he conceals viewing child exploitation material by deleting the files and not accessing it while his wife is at home.

BAKER III claimed he did not know he was actively sharing child exploitation information with other individuals, despite the fact he appeared to have a working knowledge of how peer-to-peer file sharing systems work. BAKER III stated the whole file needed to be downloaded before he was able to view it.

BAKER III claimed all of his friends on Xbox are related to his playing "Gears of War 5." BAKER III stated most of my friends are adults.

BAKER III stated he does not believe he accessed child exploitation material on any other device other than his Xbox (with the exception of his "legal" viewing on his cellular telephone).

During the search of BAKER III's residence a small amount of marijuana was found in a glass mason jar which was found in BAKER III's upstairs tv room. BAKER III acknowledged the substance was in fact marijuana and it was his. BAKER III was permitted to destroy the small amount in the presence of special agents.

After BAKER III destroyed the marijuana he stated he used it to treat his PTSD. BAKER III was asked if he had a medical marijuana card, issued by the state of Pennsylvania. BAKER III responded, "No, because if I had the card then I would not be allowed to possess my guns." BAKER III was further questioned about his use of controlled substances and stated he only uses marijuana. BAKER III was asked what type of firearms he owns and stated he had, "a few for hunting."

BAKER III was questioned about his hunting activities and stated he was not allowed to go hunting alone because of his mental health issues.
